

Real. Diverse.

Unique yet universal, these diverse productions draw us in and bring us together.

Canada encompasses six time zones and nearly 10 million square kilometres. Our landscapes range from rolling prairies to rugged mountains, silos to skyscrapers. We speak more than 200 different mother tongues, from the languages of the country's Indigenous peoples to our newest immigrants.

Young, old, LGBTQ, straight, able-bodied, disabled – together we make up the country we call home.

The Rogers Group of Funds is proud to help tell the stories that connect us. This year, we provided $26.8 million for 106 truly diverse productions that just scrape the surface of what it means to be Canadian.

In doing so, we're ensuring that the grandmothers in Pangnirtung, the transgender kids in Regina, the second-generation Asian-Canadians in Vancouver and so many others can see a piece of their reality – Canadian reality – reflected on screen. We're also expanding the horizons of viewers across the country, introducing new ideas and different perspectives.

Above all, we're supporting great television and film – productions that draw us in regardless of where they're set, what the actors look like or what language they speak. Because the best stories are universal, bringing us together in a shared experience that speaks to everyone.

Robin C. Mirsky, Executive Director, Rogers Group of Funds
& Philip B. Lind, Vice Chairman, Rogers Communications

Television is a powerful tool that can either break down or build up language and culture. Producing our show in Inuktitut isn't easy, but we'd lose something really important if we didn't."

Stacey Aglok MacDonald, Producer, Qanurli?

High above the treeline, this series brings a uniquely Inuit sense of humour to the comedy genre. Chronicling the misadventures of a group of friends attempting to broadcast a TV show from a tent on the tundra, this mash-up of skits, ad parodies and fake newscasts bills itself as “Wayne’s World meets 30 Rock.” Whether it’s the Old Spice guy on a caribou or lessons on trapping lemmings with a cardboard box, Qanurli? offers giggles galore – all in Inuktitut.

Quirky.

Film and television in any country need to be at the forefront of changing and guiding mindsets by telling stories from different perspectives.”

Khurram Suhrwardy, Director/Producer, Mangoes “A Slice of Life”

Three young South Asians have arrived in Canada to pursue their dreams. But between money problems, bossy neighbours and the pitfalls of inter-cultural dating, they're hitting a few roadblocks on the path to success. Sweet and juicy, this multilingual comedy series by Pakistani-born brothers Khurram and Adeel Suhrwardy has attracted viewers from more than 80 countries around the world. Mangoes serves up Canadian television with a global flavour – including some fine examples of eyebrow dancing.

Fresh.

“There are ex-pat Chinese audiences in Canada and around the world interested in seeing contemporary drama with relatable characters and language.”

Ira Levy, Executive Producer, Blood and Water

Blood and Water is a multi-language, multi-generational police thriller. While the dialogue switches between Mandarin, Cantonese and English, the plot cuts from Jo Bradley's professional life as police detective to her personal troubles. Featuring a predominantly Asian-Canadian cast and shot on the moody streets of Vancouver, this is a series The Globe and Mail calls “brilliantly messy,” “visually stunning” and “compelling enough to keep you glued.”

Intense.

“It is important that Indigenous people tell their own stories, in their own way, and that Indigenous actors represent themselves on screen.”

Christina Fon, Producer/Executive Producer, Mohawk Girls

Finding love is hard enough. Finding yourself is even harder. For five successful seasons, the protagonists of Mohawk Girls have navigated life, sex and politics on the rez, armed with stiletto heels and equally sharp humour. Frank and funny, uninhibited and authentic, this is a show that explores what it means to be Indigenous today. In the process, it has smashed stereotypes and won fans across the country.

Provocative.

There are so many stories rich in drama, history, personality and perspective that we miss if we do not insist on diversity both behind and in front of the camera.”

Nisha Pahuja & Cornelia Principe, Producers, Just A Regular Kid (working title)

When hijabs provoke insults and mosques are under attack, what does it mean to grow up a Muslim in Canada? This one-hour documentary follows young teens as they make the transition from a private Islamic elementary school to public secondary schools and take their first tentative steps towards adulthood. Up-close and personal, Just A Regular Kid looks at how ideas of diversity and tolerance play out in the Canadian classroom.

Insightful.

Our imagination, playfulness and creativity are rooted in the many cultures that make our nation. We need to see this on the screen.”

Marie-Hélène Cousineau, Producer, Tia and Piujuq

Tia is a young Syrian girl whose family recently moved to Montreal. Piujuq is a young Inuk girl, who befriends the homesick immigrant when Tia is magically transported to the Arctic. But to make sure Tia can return home, the pair must embark on a journey into Inuit myth and legend. A children's movie shot in Quebec and Nunavut in Inuktitut, French, English and Arabic, Tia and Piujuq mixes themes of friendship and culture with a dash of the supernatural.

Enchanting.

Transformer is a story about coming to terms with an identity that did not fit with societal norms. I believe it's a film that starts conversations and has the capacity to change lives.”

Tad Munnings, Producer, Transformer

Matt Kroczaleski turned himself from a self-described “white trash kid” into a decorated U.S. Marine and then a world champion powerlifter. Now he’s about to face his most difficult transformation yet: from man to woman. Winner of best documentary feature and audience choice award at the Austin Film Festival, Transformer follows Matt as he becomes Janae. Disowned by her parents, abandoned by her sponsors and banned from competing, Janae attempts to carve out a new path and a new identity.

Powerful.

Canada is a diverse country. Companies lucky enough to be able to tell stories as diverse as the population find themselves armed with many great perspectives.”

Adam Scorgie, Producer, Making Coco

Wayne Gretzky called him the best goaltender in the history of the NHL. Over the course of his career, Grant “Coco” Fuhr won 403 regular-season NHL games, took home five Stanley Cups and earned a spot in the Hockey Hall of Fame. He also saw setbacks, including a season-long suspension for cocaine use. Much more than just a sports documentary, Making Coco tells the story of hockey’s first black superstar – the barriers he broke, the comeback he made and the inspiration he brought to thousands.

Unflinching.

Our hope is that people who watch our series will see job-seekers with disabilities in a new and more inclusive way.”

Penny Wheelwright, Executive Producer, Employable Me

Becca has Tourette syndrome. Robert is blind. Matt was diagnosed with ADHD. Each of them wants a job, but getting hired requires battling stereotypes and misconceptions. In season one, Employable Me followed 12 job-seekers in their quest to put their talents to work – and earned a Canadian Screen Award nomination for best factual series. Now it's time for a second season of changing perceptions, breaking barriers and inspiring audiences from coast to coast.

Determined.

It's a great time for inclusive television and film, and there's a huge desire for it. We see the world through a different lens and hear different stories.”

Lucy Stewart, Executive Producer, Second Jen

Second Jen is about being young, living on your own and trying to loosen the apron-strings of your overbearing Asian parents. It's about experiencing life's milestones with your best friend and making plenty of mistakes along the way. Created by Chinese-Canadian Samantha Wan and Filipino-Canadian Amanda Joy, who also play the leads, this comedy series reflects the real-life experiences of second-generation immigrants, from commitment issues to cultural pride to the universal process of #adulthood.

Millennial.

By acknowledging what brings us together instead of focusing on what tears us apart, we can create a country where we can put aside our differences to live better together.”

Adam Pajot Gendron, Producer, L'hiver des Coasters

Living isn't easy on Quebec's remote and rocky Lower North Shore. Winters are long, no roads connect this region to the outside world, and each year, more people pack their bags for the big city. For the Innu, francophones and anglophones who choose to stay, the secret is relying on one another and embracing the great outdoors that surrounds them. L'hiver des Coasters follows some of the memorable individuals who call themselves “Coasters” – and their struggle to preserve their way of life.

Authentic.

“The reality of living as a francophone in a minority setting shapes a culture in very interesting and often surprising ways. I think it’s important to showcase these experiences.”

David Baeta, Executive Producer, Balade à Toronto

Go behind the scenes with some of the nation’s best francophone musicians. Balade à Toronto follows ten promising artists from five different provinces as they tour Toronto, playing tourist and playing their songs. Discover the likes of Winnipeg hip-hop artist Alpha Toshineza, Acadian folk-rocker Joey Robin Haché and Cindy Doire, a singer/songwriter from northern Ontario with a hauntingly beautiful voice. This show offers ear candy for every music lover, no matter what language you speak.

Compelling.

Our Certified Independent Production Funds

Every independent producer has a long list of responsibilities. However, few loom larger than getting the financing needed to greenlight a production. The Rogers Group of Funds makes checking off that item easier.

In 2017, we invested $8.7 million in 178 hours of programming through our Cable Network Fund, Documentary Fund and the Theatrical Documentary Program we offer in partnership with Telefilm Canada.

Those dollars helped make 71 productions possible – productions that reflect the rich geographic, demographic, cultural and linguistic diversity that defines this country.

2017	Financing	# of Projects	# of Programming Hours
Cable Network Fund	$5,481,000	21	114.5
Documentary Fund	$2,614,000	42	51
Theatrical Documentary Program	$562,000	8	12.5
Total CIPF	$8,657,000	71	178

Great choices

Thanks to the Rogers Cable Network Fund, Canadians have more great choices than ever when they turn on the TV. In 2017, we invested $5.5 million in 21 new and unique productions, helping create 114.5 hours of content designed to engage, educate and entertain.

Board of Directors

Alison Clayton, Jan Innes,
Philip B. Lind, Mary Powers,
Sally R. Warren

Over the course of his career, WAYNE CLARKSON (independent) has headed up some of Canada's most respected film and television institutions, including the National Film Theatre, the Ontario Film Development Corporation (now the Ontario Media Development Corporation), Toronto's Festival of Festivals (now the Toronto International Film Festival) and the Canadian Film Centre. Most recently, he served a five-year term as Executive Director of Telefilm Canada.

Mr. Clarkson has received numerous industry awards, including the Clyde Gilmour Lifetime Achievement Award from the Toronto Film Critics Association and the Toronto Arts Award for contribution to Canadian cinema. He also has served on numerous boards and advisory groups, including the Toronto International Film Festival and the Federal Task Force for Feature Film Policy.

ALISON CLAYTON (independent) is a senior broadcasting executive with many years of experience in the production, distribution, programming and financing of Canadian television.

As an award-winning producer with Crawley Films, Ms. Clayton oversaw the production of more than 100 children's television programs, including two Gemini Award winners. During this time, Ms. Clayton was President of the Canadian Film and Television Association (now the Canadian Media Producers Association).

Her broadcasting experience includes the launch and management of The Biography Channel, G4 Tech TV and MSNBC Canada, as well as senior programming positions with The Family Channel, The Movie Network and MOVIEPIX.

Ms. Clayton is a director of the Canada Media Fund and a former member of the board of Outdoor Life Network and the Canadian Television Fund.

Ms. Clayton is the board member responsible for Official Language Minority Communities (OLMCs) and their consideration in all funding decisions.

JAN INNES (independent) is a Board Director and Public Affairs specialist. She sits on the Board of Directors of Ports Toronto and the Billy Bishop Airport.

Ms. Innes worked for 25 years at Rogers Communications handling corporate communications, public affairs and government relations.

She completed the Directors Education Program at the Rotman School of Management.

With a long-time interest in film and television, Ms. Innes sat on the board of the Toronto International Film Festival for 15 years and is active today with Hot Docs, co-chairing a campaign committee.

PHILIP B. LIND, CHAIR (non-independent) is one of the founders of Rogers Communications Inc. and currently serves as its Vice Chairman. Mr. Lind was the founding Chairman of the Canada Media Fund, the central funding agency for television programming in Canada.

Mr. Lind has an interest in contemporary art and serves on the board of the Art Gallery of Ontario and the Vancouver Art Gallery. Mr. Lind is also the Chair of CPAC – the only Canadian media network focused exclusively on politics, Parliament and public affairs.

MARY POWERS (independent) is President of MPowers Communications, specializing in communications and marketing for content producers and distributors in the international content marketplace.

A media industry veteran, Ms. Powers spent a good deal of her career at CHUM Limited, where she directed all

French Advisory Committee

domestic and international communications, corporate branding and investor relations for what was then one of Canada's leading media companies. She then became SVP Corporate Communications for CTVglobemedia (now Bell Media), prior to launching her own company.

Active in numerous industry associations, she is a past Chair of both the Banff World Media Festival and the international marketing organization Promax, as well as a past board member of the Academy of Canadian Cinema and Television.

SALLY R. WARREN (independent) is a communications consultant and writer with a broad-based background in magazine editing, press relations and government regulation. From 1986 to 1997 she was a commissioner on the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission.

Ms. Warren, who has served on numerous civic and community boards, continues her involvement with the Vancouver Library Foundation. In addition, she has joined the board of the Health Arts Society, an organization that has arranged over 12,000 professional musical performances in care residences across Canada.

Ms. Warren edited a Vancouver city magazine for 11 years and has written freelance for several U.S. and Canadian publications. Additionally, she wrote a non-fiction book that was published by HarperCollins and has been printed in 11 languages.

MARC BOUDREAU's professional endeavours led him from Quebec's Ministry of Cultural Affairs as Press Attaché to the Minister to Toronto, where he served as director of cultural affairs at the Quebec Government Office, and then to Montréal where he founded and directed the Quebec branch of the Academy of Canadian Cinema & Television for the first Gémeaux awards. He was Political Attaché at the Office of the Honourable Marie-Claude Bibeau, Minister of International Development and La Francophonie.

Since 1997, SUZANNE D'AMOURS has been working as a consultant, mainly in the field of cinema and television, in the recording and entertainment industries and in the area of literary publishing. As part of her work, Ms. D'Amours has conducted numerous studies and contributed to the establishment of various financing programs, including tax credit programs related to cultural productions. Further, she writes reports for associations and organizations involved in cultural policy review or calls for comments by the CRTC.

For decades, NICOLE MATHIEU BOISVERT has been involved in the film industry as a producer of shorts, feature films and documentaries. After serving as vice-president of the Independent Distributors' Association and president of l'Association des producteurs de films du Québec, she was invited by the Quebec government to create la Société générale du cinéma (now SODEC). She presently specializes in film script analysis for writers, producers and investors. She has also published books for children and an essay on film censorship.

Discoverability & promotion

At the Rogers Group of Funds, we're proud to help independent producers bring their visions to life. But production is only one piece of the puzzle. For Canadian-made content to truly succeed, it needs to reach audiences – and that means promoting and distributing it as widely as possible.

In 2017, we supported a number of efforts to raise the profile of Canadian productions. These included:

- Banff World Media Festival – funding a $25,000 prize awarded to the producer of the Jury's Choice for "Best Canadian Program"
- Toronto Film Critics Awards – funding a $100,000 prize awarded to the filmmaker of the Critics' Choice for "Best Canadian Feature Film"
- Vancouver International Film Festival – funding a $15,000 prize awarded to the filmmaker of the "Best Canadian Documentary"
- Hot Docs – funding a $50,000 prize awarded to the filmmaker of the audience's choice for "Best Canadian Documentary"

We also provided sponsorships and grants to the following organizations and events to promote original Canadian content:

- Canadian Media Producers Association's annual Prime Time in Ottawa conference
- Academy of Canadian Cinema & Television
- Doc Circuit Montréal
- Directors Guild of Canada
- Prix Géméaux
- DOXA Documentary Film Festival
- The Rogers-DOC Luminary Awards

Official Language Minority Communities (OLMCs)

As stated in our Rogers Documentary and Cable Network Fund guidelines, the Board of Directors will undertake consideration of all of Canada's regions as well as minority language communities in its funding decisions. The Rogers Group of Funds will continue its outreach to producers working in these communities, as well as to the associations representing their interests.

Rogers Documentary Fund and Cable Network Fund Measurements for Success

This year, the Board of Directors adopted a set of criteria for consideration as part of its decision-making process. When assessing the potential for success of a program, the Board of Directors will consider the following for all applications received:

Rogers Cable Network Fund

- producer track record
- international pre-sales/financing
- creative team
- audience appeal in Canada
- international audience appeal
- sales and distribution potential

Rogers Documentary Fund

- producer track record
- international pre-sales/financing
- creative team
- audience appeal in Canada
- international audience appeal
- sales and distribution potential
- film festival potential

*The number of applications received and funded does not include the projects funded by Rogers Theatrical Documentary Program (our partnership with Telefilm Canada).

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors of Rogers Documentary
and Cable Network Fund

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Rogers Documentary and Cable Network Fund, which comprise the statement of financial position as at December 31, 2017, the statements of operations, changes in net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes, comprising a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on our judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, we consider internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Rogers Documentary and Cable Network Fund as at December 31, 2017, and its results of operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

ROGERS DOCUMENTARY AND CABLE NETWORK FUND

Notes to Financial Statements

Year ended December 31, 2017

The Rogers Documentary and Cable Network Fund (the "Fund") is a not-for-profit organization incorporated without share capital under the laws of Canada. The Fund's mission is to foster, promote, develop and finance the production of Canadian television programming by means of two separate independent production funds established for that purpose: the Rogers Documentary Fund and the Rogers Cable Network Fund. The Fund receives all of its contributions from Rogers Communications Canada Inc. ("RCCI"), a wholly owned subsidiary of Rogers Communications Inc. The Fund is exempt from taxes under Section 149(1)(l) of the Income Tax Act (Canada). The Fund is registered with the Canada Revenue Agency for purposes of the harmonized sales tax ("HST").

1. Operations:

The Fund receives contributions from RCCI, a broadcast distribution company, pursuant to conditions of licenses granted to such distribution undertakings by the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (the "CRTC"). Broadcast distribution undertakings are required to contribute 5% of their gross broadcasting revenue to Canadian programming with 1% to 3% to be contributed to production funds.

Additionally, the Fund receives contributions from RCCI related to its Video-on-Demand ("VOD") and Sports Pay-per-View ("Sports") programming licenses. Contributions from the VOD and Sports programming licenses are 2.5% and 3.33% of its gross broadcasting revenues, respectively.

2. Significant accounting policies:

(a) Basis of presentation:

The financial statements have been prepared by management in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations ("ASNPO") set out in Part III of the Chartered Professional Accountants of Canada Handbook - Accounting.

(b) Use of estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with ASNPO requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenditures during the year. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

2. Significant accounting policies (continued):

(c) Revenue recognition:

The Fund follows the restricted fund method of accounting for contributions from broadcast distribution companies. Contributions are recognized as revenue when received or receivable if the amount to be received can be reasonably estimated and collection is reasonably assured.

Recoveries from programming and productions are recognized when received due to the unpredictability of amounts to be received.

Investment income is recognized in the year in which the revenue is earned.

(d) Programming contribution commitments:

Programming contribution commitments are expensed in the year in which the Fund determines that the application for project funding meets the criteria specified in its guidelines and the Fund approves the contribution amount requested by the applicant. The Fund typically remits the amount committed within 6 to 18 months after the approval for funding, provided all payment conditions are met and all supporting documentation is submitted by the funding recipient. In certain instances, the actual amounts paid differ from the original commitment. Adjustments for these differences are recorded in the year determined. During 2017, an aggregate of $219,388 (2016 - $533,637) of adjustments was recorded to decrease programming contribution commitments initially established in prior years.

Included in the programming contribution commitments is $575,851 (2016 - $313,578) related to the Theatrical Documentary Program ("TDP"), associated with Telefilm Canada ("Telefilm"). The goal of the TDP is to broaden the range of Canadian feature-length documentaries for theatrical distribution in English and French in Canada. Telefilm is a Crown corporation reporting to Canada's federal government through the Minister of Canadian Heritage. Telefilm's mandate is to finance and promote through their various funds and programs Canada's audiovisual industry.

Additionally, in accordance with CRTC broadcasting policy 2016-343, the Fund committed $228,000 for "Promotion and Discoverability", a new channel of funding established in fiscal 2017. The goal of this initiative is to benefit stakeholders involved in the creation of Canadian content and make their projects the most successful as possible while being visible and available on multiple platforms. Essentially, the projects will be properly promoted prior to being discovered by a large audience.

2. Significant accounting policies (continued):

(e) Cash and cash equivalents:

The Fund considers all highly liquid investment instruments with a maturity of three months or less at the time of purchase to be cash equivalents.

(f) Financial instruments:

Financial instruments are recorded at fair value on initial recognition and are subsequently recorded at cost or amortized cost, unless management has elected to carry the instruments at fair value. The Fund has not elected to carry any such financial instruments at fair value.

Transaction costs incurred on the acquisition of financial instruments measured subsequently at fair value are expensed as incurred. All other financial instruments are adjusted by transaction costs incurred on acquisition and financing costs, which are amortized using the straight-line method.

Financial assets are assessed for impairment on an annual basis at the end of the fiscal year if there are indicators of impairment. If there is an indicator of impairment, the Fund determines if there is a significant adverse change in the expected amount or timing of future cash flows from the financial asset. If there is a significant adverse change in the expected cash flows, the carrying value of the financial asset is reduced to the highest of the present value of the expected cash flows, the amount that could be realized from selling the financial asset or the amount the Fund expects to realize by exercising its right to any collateral. If events and circumstances reverse in a future year, an impairment loss will be reversed to the extent of the improvement, not exceeding the initial carrying value.

3. Fair values of financial instruments:

The carrying amounts of cash and cash equivalents, contributions receivable from RCCI, accounts payable and accrued liabilities, programming contribution commitments and due to Rogers Telefund approximate their fair values due to the short-term nature of these financial instruments.

Year ended December 31, 2017

4. Related party transactions:

The Fund has entered into an agreement with Rogers Telefund, a related party due to its common management, whereby Rogers Telefund provides administrative services to the Fund. The amounts are recorded at the exchange amount, as agreed to by the parties and are non-interest bearing and due on demand. As required by the CRTC, total administrative expenditures incurred by the Fund in any particular year may not exceed 5% of revenue of the Fund. During 2017, Rogers Telefund provided administrative services of $183,541 (2016 - $174,709) to the Fund. During the year ended December 31, 2017, the Fund did not exceed the 5% threshold. As at December 31, 2017, the balance due to the Rogers Telefund amounted to $18,049 (2016 - $174,709).

5. Harmonized sales tax receivable:

HST receivable comprises the net input tax credit receivable recorded by the Fund with respect to HST, pertaining to the equity payments made, net of recoveries earned in accordance with the equity investment agreement for financial support provided to a producer of specific programming or programs.

6. Capital management and economic dependence:

The Fund includes cash and cash equivalents and net assets in its capital management consideration. The Fund's objectives when managing capital are to safeguard its ability to continue as a going concern and continue to execute its mandate.

The Fund monitors these items to assess its ability to fulfill its ongoing financial obligations. The Fund relies primarily on contributions to fund its operations and makes adjustments to its budgeted expenditures in light of changes. The Fund is not subject to externally imposed capital requirements.

The Fund is dependent on contributions from RCCI for continued operations.

7. Financial risks:

(a) Liquidity risk:

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Fund will be unable to fulfill its obligations on a timely basis or at a reasonable cost. The Fund manages its liquidity risk by monitoring its operating requirements. The Fund prepares budget and cash forecasts to ensure it has sufficient funds to fulfill its obligations. There has been no change to the risk exposures from 2016.

(b) Credit risk:

Credit risk refers to the risk that a counterparty may default on its contractual obligations resulting in a financial loss. The Fund is exposed to credit risk with respect to contributions receivable from RCCI. The Fund assesses, on a continuous basis, the collectability of these contributions receivable. There is no provision for doubtful accounts recorded in respect of this amount in the current or prior year.
